

Microsonic energy device zimbabwe

Microsonic energy device zimbabwe

Zimbabwean Inventor's Energy Device Sparks Global Debate DEI

(Wilmington, NC) Harare, Zimbabwe - Maxwell Chikumbutso, a Zimbabwean inventor, has made headlines with his alleged breakthrough in renewable energy technology--the Microsonic Energy

Africa's very own Tesla - Inventor creates Micro-sonic Energy Devices

Using "Microsonic Energy Device" that captures radio frequencies and converts them into usable power, which can be used to power homes, vehicles, and other applications. Chikumbutso's

Ohne Laden, ohne Kabel: Technologie aus Simbabwe

Die Erfindung des afrikanischen Tüftlers Chikumbutso könnte nun für einen grundlegenden Wandel in der Automobilindustrie sorgen. Ihm gelang es, ein

Zimbabwean President And Politicians Duped By Local's 'Radio Wave'

Zimbabwean officials were a bit too quick to believe that the "groundbreaking technology" uses radio waves to power generators, motorcycles, and electric vehicles using a "microsonic"

HIT and Saith Technologies: A Powerhouse Partnership for Zimbabwe

Recently, Saith launched its Microsonic Energy technology--a breakthrough that promises clean, self-sustaining energy solutions. This isn't just about keeping the lights on; it's about

Zimbabwean inventor and entrepreneur, Chikumbutso, has Zimbabwean. Yes, we have done it in Zimbabwe So the vehicle is bought with what we call a microsonic energy device that has been the the the vehicle it uses

This vehicle will be launched on February 10th 2025. No

This vehicle ? will be launched on February 10th 2025. No fuel, no electricity, no charging. It is a self propelled car. Manufactured by Maxwell Chukuabuntu, a Zimbabwean energy expert. He

HIT and Saith Technologies: A Powerhouse Partnership for Zimbabwe

Big news for Zimbabwe! Saith Technologies, the brainchild of innovator Maxwell Sangulani Chikumbutso, has teamed up with the Harare Institute of Technology (HIT) to push the boundaries of

Contact Us

For catalog requests, pricing, or partnerships, please visit:
<https://topclasspoolspa.co.za>